RE: 2022 FNR Greenhouse Committee Report

Overview

The 2022-23 Greenhouse Committee consists of Nathan Hilliard (Chair), Doug Jacobs, Keith Woeste, Andy Coursey.

The role of the Greenhouse Committee includes a) to coordinate management and use of departmental greenhouses, b) to allocate greenhouse space for research projects, and c) to make recommendations to the department head on greenhouse repairs and equipment.

Summary

FNR leases two glasshouses in the Horticulture and Landscape Architecture (HLA) Plant Growth Facility, and operates two glasshouses at the J.S. Wright Center. We also offer a seasonal shade frame enclosure adjacent to the Wright greenhouses as needed. These facilities are open to all FNR users to help fulfill our research, teaching, and extension missions. A 'request for proposals' is distributed to all FNR users in January of each year. The Greenhouse Committee would like to encourage our Forestry research groups to consider these facilities when planning future proposals.

2022 Greenhouse Assignments

With increased awareness of the HLA greenhouse space vacated by Dr. Meilan, a number of additional space requests were made this year in comparison to last year, allowing us to utilize the available space more fully, both on and off campus. Additionally, late requests for greenhouse space are not uncommon as faculty and students work to finalize their research resources and requirements. We anticipate that the majority of the remaining available space will be utilized throughout the 2022 growing season.

The current assignments for the 2022-2023 season are shown in the table below. If you find that you require new or additional space for your departmental plant growth projects, please submit a space request proposal to the Greenhouse committee for review.
